

August 15, 2014

To Whom It May Concern,

Myself along with the Staff of Woodland Job Corps Center present this letter of appreciation and as a recommendation with like sentiments and enthusiasm for Ms. Lakesha Lee. As a businesswoman, motivational speaker, and champion for change, she has not only become a pillar in our community but a voice for the future of our students.

Ms. Lakesha Lee native of Buffalo, New York, a senior at Bowie State University talks passionately with our students about Legacy Building. "Master your skill set and have the ability to absorb all opportunities", Lakesha Lee emphasized in a recent motivational speech to our students. Having worked for District of Columbia Public Charter Schools in Washington, DC, she is not only familiar with the obstacles our students face but has a presence, mantra, and positive energy to match the advice proposed to them. She is also an entrepreneur whose skill set will catapult her far beyond the realm of success. Lakesha Lee encourages students to educate one-self, have a trade, and surround yourselves with like-minded individuals.

Ms. Lee's confidence and work ethic is not only impactful but also infectious. Our students and staff are in constant anticipation of her return, knowledge, commitment, and philanthropy. Our students and staff are honored to name Ms. Lakesha Lee Community Ambassador for the Woodland Job Corps Center.

Respectfully,

Latasha Kearise
Career Preparation and Counseling Manager, Woodland Job Corps
(301) 362-6000
Kearise.Latasha@jobcorps.org